(RIDGLEY, MD–July 3, 2026) The dual exhibit of Nancy Fine and Julia Glatfelter's work highlights the creative ways that use of contrasting mediums and approaches invite one to experience the beauty, fragility and importance of our environment through art. The show is on view in the Arboretum's Visitor's Center Art Gallery from July 3 through August 29. There will be a public reception on Saturday, July 11 from 2 to 4 p.m., to meet the artists.

Nancy Fine's landscapes are a result of transitioning from photorealism to employing lush brushwork and palette knife to express her love and awareness of nature. Her alla prima approach immerses the viewer in a moment that both visually and emotionally captures the beauty of our environment.

Julia Glatfelter uses both paint and collage to interact with nature via vivid, yet everyday scenes. Whether exuberant or quiet thematically, her vibrant colors and sharp delineation capture the intimacy of the moment. Her emphasis on place, memory and color speak to both our ephemeral as well as our indelible relationship to the environment.

Together, Fine and Glatfelter address the many ways to deeply see and appreciate the natural treasures that surround and nourish us all.
